To whom it may concern,

I was involved in an accident with Mrs. C. Schafer on Friday, July 12th, 2019 around 1:35 PM in Saint Petersburg Florida. I was driving a red Mazda CX3 (around 33 miles/hour in a zone with a 35 miles/hour speed limit) in the right lane on 4th Street N going north. My stepbrother and stepsister were also in the car with me. We were almost at 27th Ave N when the other driver came onto 4th Street N from the left side of the road and proceeded to drive straight in the left lane in the same direction that I was driving. She then suddenly turned right into the City Produce parking lot (without using a turn signal), crossing the right lane in which I was driving. I braked as hard as I could, but still lightly hit her car around the rear light.

Direct after the accident I asked about her well-being, and she let us know she was ok. About 30 minutes later a police officer came, and she also told him that she had no injuries.

I was not under the influence of any drugs, alcohol, or medication; I was not distracted by my phone, radio, or passengers; and I was not driving above the speed limit or swerving across the road.

The damage to my car is estimated by Northwest Collision Center in St. Petersburg to be $1,290.02.

I hereby declare that the details are correct as far as I know.

This is the view from the other side of the street. I was driving on the right most lane just like the red truck seen above. The other driver came from the same place the blue Honda is standing. The City Produce parking lot can be seen on the right.
